

but Raiders forfeit first 2 games

Rowe to play--FHSAA

BELLE GLADE—The Glades Central Raiders, off to what could have been their first undefeated season since 1971 and their first district championship since 1974, were forced to forfeit 21-6 and 28-6 victories over Atlantic and Jupiter High Schools this week.

The forfeits came as a partial result of a week-long controversy surrounding Johnny Rowe, the Raiders' speedy and powerful running back, and the question of his eligibility. The decision was made by the executive board of the Florida High School Activities Association (FHSAA) Tuesday in Gainesville.

Rowe sat out the Raiders' third victory, over Cardinal Newman, Friday night, while waiting for action to be taken by the FHSAA and his father returned from where he is stationed in Germany to go to the hearing Monday with Johnny, Johnny's grandmother, Janie Rowe and Dr. Effie Grear, principal of Glades Central.

Rowe's parents brought him back from Germany during the summer so he could attend his senior year of high school here and live with his grandmother, who lives at 23 W. 11th St. His father is serving in the Army in Germany.

Rowe played football in Germany, Hawaii and Virginia and while Dr. Grear said she had checked during the summer to see if Rowe was eligible to attend Glades Central, no further check was made to see if he was eligible to compete in athletics.

That issue came up two weeks ago when Rowe was cited as Player of the Week by the Palm Beach Post for his performance in the Jupiter game, in which Rowe scored 26 of the 28 points scored on the Warriors and ran 170 yards.

Dr. Grear said that after several people questioned Rowe's eligibility, she decided

Corps permitting requires farmers to save wetlands

BELLE GLADE—A proposed plan to allow farmers to develop wetlands in South Florida under a more lenient permitting system by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers contains the condition that 10 percent of the land to be developed be set aside for water retention and protection of wildlife.

John Adams, the chief of the regulatory division of the Corps' district offices in Jacksonville, said the system was conceived to allow permits meeting certain conditions to be permitted by a short cut rather than go through the usual six month process.

Adams stressed the fact the system is still only a proposal on which a public notice was made Sept. 15. He said the retention of 10 percent of the land is the major condition the Corps is imposing on farmers applying for a permit to develop wetlands.

Other conditions include: assurances the development wouldn't be damaging to wildlife or historical sites, state approval for the project, and a look at the site by Corps personnel.

Water retention areas have been proposed in the past by environmentalists intent on stopping backpumping in the Everglades Agricultural Area and has faced stiff opposition from farmers, who say the practice could bankrupt them.

The Corps' proposal wouldn't affect areas already developed, Adams said, but would affect areas farmers want to develop. He said the Corps has already asked for the retention areas in some cases but said the retention areas weren't necessarily 10 percent.

"Under the standard permitting procedure," he said, "we'll take a look at the land and determine several things. If, for example, the productivity of the land in question is going to be low, we may not recommend any area being retained. On the other hand, if the productivity is going to be high, we may request more than 10 percent."

Adams said that until relatively recently, the Corps hasn't considered wetlands to be a part of its jurisdiction, that it was forced by court decisions to begin considering

Election is today

BELLE GLADE—Glades area voters have a special interest in today's election, even if Republicans don't have any decisions to make in most races on the ballot.

The issue in question, whether to divide the Palm Beach-Broward Soil and Water Conservation District, can be voted on by all voters, regardless of party.

The seats of three supervisors in the district are also up for re-election, including the seat now held by Fred John. John has represented the Glades for some time on the board but he is being challenged this year by Collins Forman.

In Group One, Catherine Horton is running against Ross Zimmerman and in Group Three, William "Billy" Bowman Jr. is running against James G. Kane.

In a statewide race, Democrats will be voting for either Bob Graham and Wayne Mixson or Robert L. Shavin and Jim Glisson in the governor's race.

Two other races Democrats will have to choose standard bearers in are the Secretary of State race, in which Beverly F. Dozier is running against George Firestone and the Attorney General's race, which is pitting Alan Becker against Jim Smith.

The Democrats also have to choose in one county-wide race, the County Commission District Two race where Frank Foster is running against Daniel "Dan" Hendrix.

Should the proposal to divide the Soil and Conservation District go through, all the portions of the district in Palm Beach County would split off from the part in Broward County.

Fred Johns said he is urging an affirmative vote on the split because he feels it would cost no more and the interests between the two counties aren't the same.

In a side story on the election, Palm Beach County Supervisor of Elections Jackie Winchester said the voter registration offices at all four county office buildings, including the one in the Glades, will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday in a last minute effort to register voters.

Mrs. Winchester reminded voters Saturday will be the last time they can register to vote in the Nov. 7 general election. Since there was a purge of the voter books just before the primary election, those voters who have doubts about their registration should check with her office.

THE ASCS ELECTION notice was posted in the Belle Glade Post Office this week by ASCS secretary Altie Velez.

ASCS holding election

BELLE GLADE—Glades area farmers were reminded this week that nominations for the 1978 U.S. Department of Agriculture Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) are being held from Oct. 5 through Oct. 30.

Marie L. Wilkins, acting county executive director, said the farmers can nominate candidates by petition and ballots will be mailed to eligible members on Nov. 24 and must be returned with a postmark no later than Dec. 4.

New committee members take office on Jan. 1 and Mrs. Wilkins said the election of responsible, concerned farmers to positions on ASCS community and county committees is important to all farmers.

"The farmer-elected committee system is the backbone of ASCS," she said, "but it can lose its effectiveness if farmers fail to vote."

A list of eligible voters is posted in the Belle Glade ASCS office.

Permits hit smaller water users

Water use permits for anyone who uses more than 10,000 gallons of water a day will be discussed in a series of hearings slated for next week in three cities in the South Florida Water Management District (WMD).

Permits have been required for users of more than 100,000 gallons per day since 1974 when the WMD began implementing the permitting portions of the Water Resources Act.

At its July 13, meeting, the WMD board directed the staff to design a rule which will possibly bring nearly all water users in the district under permit requirements.

"We have no desire to burden the small water user with time consuming and expensive engineering forms," WMD Executive Director Jack Maloy said. "However, to protect the resource realistically, and to protect the land owners as well, this looks like the route we will have to take."

Maloy said it was believed in 1974 that any use under 100,000 gallons a day didn't substantially affect the resource but in cases of water shortage almost every user affects the resource and all the users must be calculated into the formula for providing water to the area.

Maloy said the Water Resources Act made water rights dependent on receiving a permit for the use of water. He said the system is adequate for the larger users but smaller users now have no way to obtain legal right to use water, a fact he says becomes critical when a conflict arises.

He pointed out that even under the revised permitting system, permits wouldn't be required for domestic household use of water, water used solely for individual lawn irrigation and for firefighting purposes.

The WMD staff has recommended that a general permit be issued for the 10,000 to 100,000 gallon a day users, "except in the areas where long-term shortages have been identified."

"The two areas currently in such a situation are the City of Stuart, in Martin County, and Sanibel and Captiva Islands in Lee County. In those areas, and others if the need arises, full permit applications and reviews would be required for any use over 10,000 gallons a day average," Maloy said.

Two of the upcoming hearings will be held on Sanibel Island and in Stuart. The first will be held at 10 a.m. in MacKenzie Hall, 2245 Palm Ridge Rd., in Sanibel on Oct.

FLAG FOOTBALL, drew crowds numbering 200-300 this week as the new sport, sponsored by the City Recreation Department, pitted a slate of teams drawn from the area, including one each from Clewiston and Pahokee, to the Lakeshore Recreation Park.

It's easy for a triumphant politician to appear before the public, beaming.

But it's another matter entirely for a defeated one to come out and speak. This was the case Tuesday, when Phil Yorston, former candidate for the State House, District 82, appeared before the Rotary.

Yorston had agreed to provide the Rotary with a program during the campaign and was scheduled in at the earliest date. By the time that date rolled around, he had been defeated during the primaries.

What does a defeated candidate say? Well, Yorston noted he was behind Jim Smith for Attorney General and that Governor Reuben Askew had endorsed his Republican opponent in the race. And he said he hopes everybody will continue to work for the four lanes of SR 90 and said he was going to vote for Frank Foster in the county commission race.

"One thing about losing," said Yorston, "is it gives you a head start two years from now."

Aside from Yorston, other "politicians" made their pitch during the program. Gene Redger, one of the more knowledgeable of local individuals about goings-on in Tallahassee, noted the next Rotary program will be Anita Mitchell, wife of the moon-walking astronaut and candidate who was endorsed by Askew in Yorston's race.

Gene went down a short list of issues Mrs. Mitchell is concerned with and said she should make an interesting speaker...and she'll be speaking before the general election so she'll still be a candidate.

Fred Johns got up and made his pitch to vote for the splitting of the Palm Beach-Broward Soil and Water Conservation District, something I believe should be done.

He noted the splitting of the district into two districts will "let everybody win" in the election to the board of supervisors.

Johns and John...do a good job of "presenting the Glades on this board and by all means, they should stay on the board, but they can do an even better job if they're only looking after Palm Beach County affairs and not having to get involved with Broward County."

"Hopefully, 'everybody will win' in this election."

Aside from politics, game warden Bart Crawford was feeling adventurous the other day and agreed to take a short airboat ride with me.

My airboat isn't exactly built for two, especially one of Bart's heft at 270 pounds, but it performed well enough to keep our heads above water...barely.

It's the first time I've had the boat in the water in quite some time and discovered Torrey Island has become a Mecca for airboaters.

The cornfields are under a foot of water and the running is beautiful, though I am certain there's "are farmers who wish the airboats and water would go away so the corn could be planted again."

Coming back in, we ran into a crowd of boats gathered up in one of the former fields and Rick Henderson motioned us over to join him.

Sorry about that Rick. But my boat has to be cranked by hand and if I had killed the engine, I'd have had to crawl back over the transom and prop the motor over. And with Bart on the back end, the chances are we would have been resting on the bottom in short order.

Maybe next time.

Give 'em an inch...

Give government an inch and it's a known fact they'll take however many miles you let 'em.

It happened with income tax, something that was only supposed to apply temporarily and that to only the people who made money in the upper income bracket.

Needless to say, that turned out to be about as temporary as death and applies to everybody but the highest and lowest income groups in the country.

But that's what happens when the government gets a foot in the door and that's what happened four years ago when the government, in the form of the South and Central Florida Flood Control District (FCFCD, now known as the South Florida Water Management District, or WMD) got its foot in the door on water use permits.

Back in 1974, when the question first arose, the whole idea was to conserve water by requiring large water users, who use more than 100,000 gallons of water a day, to get permits to use that amount of water.

Now, the WMD wants permits for everyone who uses more than 10,000 gallons a day and the foot in the door has become a foot, a leg and one shoulder.

In a few years, that foot, leg and shoulder could become the equivalent of income tax and we'll have the whole monster inside the house, with a requirement that everyone with a residential well get a permit before pulling water out of his yard. Of course, the WMD makes some reasonable arguments for the permitting to be extended downward to the 10,000 gallon-plus a day users, saying that while there's no desire to burden the small water user with time consuming and expensive engineering forms, that's just what's going to be done anyway.

They also make a case that by exempting a certain group of people from the process of permitting, the WMD has made it impossible for them to obtain any water rights at all. But that's what happens when the people give government the right to license or grant permits. They also have the right to withhold those permits and licenses.

At one time, people figured they had a perfect right to use highways. After all, they owned them, didn't they? That was before the state began issuing drivers licenses...and withholding them, and preaching the gospel that to drive on the state's highways is a privilege, not a right.

The same thing could happen to water in the not-so-distant future. What everyone in the state has thought of for years as a God-given natural resource that everyone has a right to could become a privilege granted by a government bureaucracy that may or may not be benevolent.

They have their foot in the door now.

One rule that needs bending

Rules may not, as the adage has it, be made to be broken but there are times when circumstances surrounding a given case are so extraordinary the rule should no longer apply.

Such is the case with Johnny Rowe. For the three people in the Glades who may not've heard, Rowe is the sensational running back at Glades Central who has been the center of a controversy over the past week concerning his eligibility to play.

Going strictly by the Florida High School Activities Association rule book, as it's been explained to us, Johnny isn't eligible to play and the Raiders' first two games would have to be forfeited.

The broken rule requires that any player must have maintained residency with his current parent or guardian for the past year before he would be eligible to play.

It's a good rule and there's a good reason for enforcing it...most of the time. It tends to hold down recruiting of players by high schools although the briefest of glances over headlines in recent months shows it doesn't stop recruiting.

But Rowe's is a special case. His parents brought him back from Germany to live in his hometown with his grandmother. He was born here and if he came back to the United States while his parents are in Germany, a move anywhere else might have been legitimately questioned.

College football scouts don't travel to Germany to scout kids playing for American high schools over there and it isn't likely a local high school scout would go that far either...even if recruiting were legal.

But scouts have been known to come to Belle Glade on occasion and if they'd been present in either of the first two games, they'd have had something to see.

If, on the other hand, they come to any future games and the only thing they see of Johnny Rowe is him pacing the sidelines, they probably won't be too impressed.

The rules were supposedly made by the FHSAA to protect the interests of the kids, the ones out on the fields. If that's the case, nothing will be gained by ruling against Rowe's eligibility, in any game he plays in this year.

One would also think some weight should be given the fact the school itself asked the FHSAA for a ruling. As Dr. Greer has said all week, she wants no question to be raised as to whether the school has knowingly broken the rules.

The FHSAA decision hasn't been made public at the time this is being written but whichever way it falls, one would hope the seven school principals making it will do so with the interests of the students in mind.

Council speaks

Pat Drake is looking for a few lifters instead of leaners.

Drake, outgoing president of the Lake Okeechobee Area Traffic Council, has served as president of the council since it was formed in 1975 and he said he believes he's done as much as he can but he needs more people to get involved by joining the Council during its next meeting on Oct. 9.

The Council deals with all kinds of traffic problems in the Glades area, including postal problems and bus schedules but it has concentrated its efforts over the years on providing better freight service.

That problem still hasn't been resolved and Drake said the Council needs all the help it can get from anyone who ships or receives anything...and sooner or later, that means every one of us.

CRACKER CRUMBS

BY DEAN JONES

"Ever walk into a voting booth during an election (and you oughta be doing that today) and see a race that made you wish you had the old multiple guess test-type fallback of "None of the Above"?

Well, I have on more than one occasion and since this is election year, it might not be a bad idea to drag out the idea again...especially since the state legislature, in all its infinite wisdom, has deprived us of the write-in option I've used more than once.

Let's face facts. There's been more than one election in the past few years where you were offered the choice of either of the two characters running for office or none at all...and the choice was between a crook and a congenial idiot.

A lot of people have, in those instances, shoved up the slot in the old style voting machines and written in Mickey Mouse, Pat Paulson or whoever and there've been times they weren't kidding.

There've been times and races I can recall when Mickey Mouse, or a substitution with nothing behind it, would've been preferable to either one of the people actually running for the office.

That's why I like the suggestion offered, a number of times in the past, but most recently by the Florida Bad Moose Party in its official organ, The Moose paper (Editor: Mickey Mouse; Staff: the Mouseketeers) of having None of the Above as an alternative in every race.

In the event None of the Above received more than 50 percent of the turnout vote, that race would be held over and those on the first ballot wouldn't be eligible to run again for that office that year.

Don't that sound sweet? What it amounts to is giving the public the power of recall elections before the unwanted candidates even got into the office. It would also assure that the crooks didn't have a chance to do any damage before they were recalled.

And before someone comes up with the old bromide and talks of expensive write-in races, just stop and think how expensive crooked and inept politicians can be to the taxpayers.

As some guy said not too long ago, our problem is that we have too many inept and crooked politicians. I don't know what position, all we have to do are find some apt and er ones...and that ain't likely as long as the primary choice comes from the two-party system as it's been practiced lately.

Don't that? Consider the type of men we had running for office during the early years of this nation's history. Even allowing for the patina of greatness time lends the Founding Fathers, it's sorta hard to compare the likes of Thomas Jefferson and George Washington to Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter, much less Richard Nixon and George McGovern.

And even if we went with the two party system, the parties would probably take a closer look at who is going to be allowed to be the standard bearer if they know the public has a right to say they don't like anyone running for office.

The Mouseketeers have some other suggestions that aren't exactly new too; things like shorter elections. I don't know about anybody else, but this election was enough to convince me the state's experiment with giving candidates the right to start electioneering any time they feel like it was an unmitigated disaster...and it found a place to happen.

Another idea is to limit primary elections to four weeks, the runoff to two weeks and the general election to another four weeks. Any candidate who violates the word or the spirit of the law would simply be declared ineligible to hold the office he or she covets.

That's one idea that works in England and could work here.

Another idea is that a limit be placed on the amount of money candidates can use to tout their own horn; limits like $5,000 for the state house seat, $7,500 for the state senate, $2,500 for school board members and ranging up to $75,000 for Congressional seats and $25,000 for all statewide elections.

That oughta cool off these candidates who're spending millions of dollars looking for an office which couldn't possibly pay 'em back except by making full use of the office for graft.

PPK competition is Saturday

Sports

BELLE GLADE—Registration for the 1978 Punt, Pass, and Kick Competition co-sponsored Oct. 7, locally by the Watson Ford continue to roll in. The contest is open to any youngster eight through 13 years of age.

Practices have been held for the last two Saturdays across the street from Watson Ford. They have had a large turnout and everyone was given tips and pointers to help them out in the competition.

In each event only one chance is given in the final competition.

Any boy or girl meeting the age requirements who can punt, pass and kick football—or who'd like to try—will want to compete. Participants compete only against others their own age, and there is no body contact.

No special equipment is needed and participation does not impair a youngster's amateur standing. Each youngster competes in three categories—punting, passing and center tape. Youngsters, accompanied by a parent or guardian, may register for PP&K at Watson Ford. There is no entrance fee.

HOW TO BLOW YOUR NOSE

Physicians advise that one should not stop up one side of the nose and then blow the other. Some of the force will back up into the throat and also germ-laden mucus might be driven into the middle ear with a possible infection resulting.

Blow your nose gently. It must last you a lifetime. Don't pick or pull hairs from it. A serious infection may be caused. And, if it troubles you and home remedies don't give quick help, don't delay. Go to your physician for inspection and skilled treatment.

Nicklaus inspires Benjamin

Rain dampens Gator come-back effort 12-14

BELLE GLADE — It rained all over the Glades Day Gators' hopes for a second-half comeback Friday night and the local team wound up with its first loss of the season.

"I guess we just weren't up for the game as we should have been," said head coach Byron Walker in commenting on the 14-12 loss to Benjamin.

Another factor could have been that Benjamin's "favorite father," golfing great Jack Nicklaus, flew in from a tournament especially to watch his two sons in action.

Walker said this may have been a factor in Benjamin playing better football than it has all year. And Nicklaus got to watch his son, Jackie, recover a fumble in the Gator end zone for what proved to be the winning margin.

In the first quarter, things started off about even with neither team able to move against tough defenses. The Gators managed to cross into Buccaneer territory only once but Benjamin couldn't even manage that.

The second quarter action started off early with Buccaneer quarterback Todd Neal completing a 79-yard bomb to Scott Brown.

On the sidelines, Gator safety Quique Echave commented that Brown would have been his man had he not been injured and out of the game. "I think I might have been able to get in front of him," said the star safety.

The conversion the Buccaneers attempted was staved off by the Gators and it was Glades Day's turn.

But a tough defense pushed them back into a corner and on a pass play, Gator quarterback Nacho Bueno was forced out of the pocket and "blind sided" in the end zone, having the ball knocked from his hands by Nicklaus, who promptly covered it for the second Benjamin score.

This time, the conversion was good, a pass from Neal to Matt Creeden, and Benjamin was ahead 14-0.

Early in the second half, a gentle soaking rain began to fall, but the Gators drove on the quarter belonged to them.

On a third and long situation, Bueno completed a spectacular pass to Jon Scruggs, who made the grab in a crowd of three Buccaneer defenders to set the Gators up on the 30.

The local team pounded down to the five when Bueno fired another pass to Scruggs, who made the catch easily for six. Mark Foster's extra point try was no good and the Gators were eight points shy of catching up.

In the fourth quarter, the Gators pushed forward down to the two, where Bueno did the honors with a dive that moved the Gators up to within tying range.

But the conversion attempt fell short and the Gators were due to kick off with just under two minutes remaining.

Hope remained when the kickoff was fumbled and the Gators recovered on the 35, but faded three downs later when Benjamin got a hand on the wet, slippery ball and went into a "stall" that ran out the clock.

The game confused the issue of who will be champion of District 7-A. With the win, Benjamin moved into a three-way tie with Glades Day and Kings while Miami Westminster emerged the present leader by defeating Benjamin last week 36-0.

"The worst thing that could happen to us," said Walker, "is for Benjamin to keep on winning and Westminster to lose two, one of them to us, which would put us in a tie with Benjamin for the district's lead." And by virtue of Benjamin's victory, there was good they would go on to the region playoffs.

Despite the loss, there was good effort during the game, said Walker. "Basil Markham and Jon Scruggs both had real good games and I'm proud of the whole team," he said. "It's real easy to give up after a first half like we had, but they didn't."

Walker noted the major coaching concern now is to get the Gators "back up" before the LaBelle game this Friday. "If we're up, we can beat LaBelle," he said. "If we aren't they'll beat us."

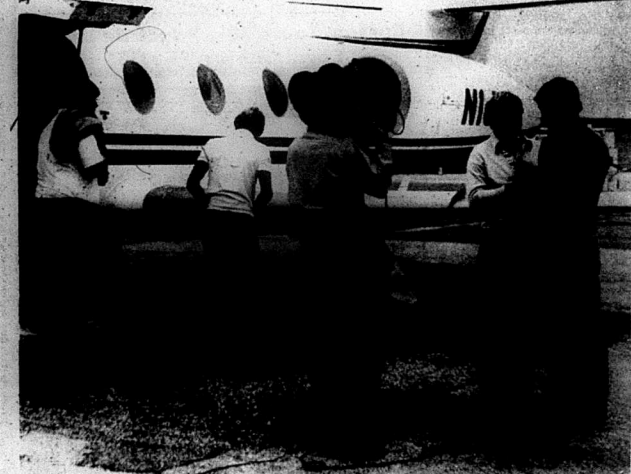

LaBelle is expected to throw the ball and with ace receiver Robbie Hull, their passing attack will be a distinct threat. "It was Hull that beat us last year, scoring a touchdown in the last quarter," said Walker.

The game starts at 8 p.m. in Belle Glade.

Christian Day loses 8-0

BELLE GLADE — Christian Day's revitalized football team dropped to a 1-1 record this week when penalties killed each drive and Broward Christian scored eight points in the third quarter to finish the game 8-0.

Coach Ken Lassiter said the Crusaders racked up 16 penalties totaling 113 yards. Although Christian Day threatened, getting to the 15 on one occasion, penalties continued to shove them back and stifle their efforts.

The Crusaders had only 26 yards in offense as opposed to 158 for Broward, but a tough defense prevented Broward from scoring at will.

The only touchdown came on a seven yard run and Broward picked up its two-point conversion on a pass.

During the second half, Broward threatened to score on almost every possession. The Crusaders held off the threat twice within their own ten for four downs.

The rest of the game was largely exchanges with each team holding the ball for four downs and punting.

Lassiter singled out several of his players for special praise. Gene Bair had nine tackles, four of which were quarterback sacks and most of which were in goal-line stands. Steve Woods played the entire game, said Lassiter, gathering in seven tackles and one assist and helping to keep Broward away from its goal.

Bill Taylor came to life in the last quarter and got four tackles behind the line of scrimmage which threw Broward for over 25 yards in losses.

This Thursday at 3:30 p.m., at the St. Peter's Lutheran field in Belle Glade, the Crusaders take on the John Carroll junior varsity.

"They're big and strong," said Lassiter, "about as big as Glades Day's varsity. We'll have our hands full."

Lassiter indicated he would be making some personnel changes in preparation for the game.

Baby Gators 1-1 after Terrier win

BELLE GLADE — Twelve turnovers in any game hurts and it hurt enough Thursday night for the Glade Day junior varsity football team to lose to Moore Haven 16-8.

Coach Dick Schmidt said there were six fumbles, four interceptions and two blocked punts, four of which were recovered by Moore Haven within the Glades 10.

Two of those led directly to Moore Haven touchdowns, but the defense held effectively most of the game, he said.

"We played defense the entire game," said Schmidt. "They did a good job."

Glades Day's scoring came on a two-yard run by Richard Schiele with Scott Meredith getting the conversion. The touchdown came in the third quarter and topped a 60-yard drive.

In statistics, the Gators had 34 yards rushing and 62 passing with 14 passes being thrown for four completions.

Moore Haven gained all 106 of its yards on the ground.

This Thursday at 7:30, the Gators take on LaBelle, which beat Moore Haven by six points when those two teams met.

Kathy Britton honored

Culminating a series of bridal parties, Miss Kathy Anne Britton was honored with a coffee at the home of Mrs. T. Edward Burgess, 301 NW Avenue E, on Sept. 27. The serving table was overlaid with a sheer cloth over pink. Arrangements of pink roses in the rooms were of nine varieties from the garden of Mrs. Mills H. Byrom, a friend of the hostesses, the groom-elect and his family. A silver tea and coffee service with punch bowl completed the table appointments. Fried ham biscuits, cream puffs, dainty sandwiches with cheese, and doughnut centers were served with sixty guests who came to meet and greet the wife-to-be of Bryan Francis Cross. The mother and sister of the bride-elect, Mrs. Calvin Britton and Mrs. Lynn Reece, had arrived the previous Friday from Kentucky and were cordially welcomed. All communities in the Glades were represented in the attendance roster. Mrs. Burgess was joined by co-hostesses Mrs. Walter C. Bamford, Mrs. Henry O. Earwood, and Mrs. Wm. A. Thiebaud at the very sociable pre-wedding party.

Cononici-Duff tell of wedding plans

BELLE GLADE-Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cononici, of Shaw, Miss., announced this week the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Gene Duff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Duff, of Mims. Miss Cononici is a graduate of Delta State University in Cleveland, Miss. She is presently employed as a teacher at Christian Day School in Belle Glade. Duff is a graduate of Florida State University and he is presently employed in the Belle Glade office of W.O. Daley & Co. of Orlando, as a certified public accountant. The wedding will take place at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 21 at the First Baptist Church of Belle Glade. No invitations are being sent locally. All friends and relatives of the couple are cordially invited to attend.

MR. AND MRS. TIM ERVIN

Local girl on team

Iona Pilgrim, graduate from Pahokee High School, will be a freshman hitter for the Palm Beach Junior College (PBJC) women's volleyball team. This year the group has had the biggest turnout ever - 13 girls, according to coach John Anderson. Volleyball is the only intercollegiate sport at PBJC which does not offer scholarships. But the school is hoping to get some for next year. "This is my first year ever as a volleyball coach, and my goal is to win every match," Anderson said. "I'm tough on the team, but the only way to win matches is to work hard."

The girls practice from 2:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. every day and do a lot of conditioning. On Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays the girls run a mile before practice, and on Tuesdays and Thursdays they lift weights. After practice they run around the gym 10 times. Coach Anderson feels volleyball is a great sport and hopes to build it up at PBJC.

A LETTER OF THANKS
Thank-you for your comfort, love, prayers and many kindnesses extended to us due to the loss of our beloved mother, Kate Cross.

Kent-Ervin wed on September 30

BELLE GLADE - The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray S. Kent, Jr., was the scene Saturday, Sept. 30, for the wedding of their daughter Miss Vickie Lee Kent to Tim Ervin. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert Atkins of the First Baptist Church. Music for the ceremony was provided by Mrs. Huell Frier. The bride's dress was of street-length white tulle and silk with a capelet top. Her headpiece was made of white carnations and yellow sweetheart roses. White cymbidium orchids, white carnations, yellow sweetheart roses, and white stephanotis blossoms combined to form the bride's bouquet. Miss Taryn Kent, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. Her gown was of plum tulle with a ruffled neckline and ruffled skirt. Her bouquet was made up of yellow daisy mums, with Lily of the Valley.

Mrs. Kent, the mother of the bride, was attired in a raspberry tulle gown with a white cymbidium orchid corsage.

Jerry Ervin, nephew of the groom, was the best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home. Decorations for the wedding and reception were two lady palms with a center arrangement of yellow spider mums, yellow glads, and yellow double daisy mums. Assisting with the reception were Jamie Caswell, who served the cake and Bernadette Grady, who served the punch. Miss Mona Kent, sister of the bride, kept the bride's book. The bride's hair wedding cake was decorated with yellow forget-me-nots. The centerpiece on the brides table was an arrangement of yellow daisy mums.

Miss Kent is a 1977 graduate of Glades Day School and is currently employed by The Bank of Pahokee. Ervin graduated from Belle Glade High School in 1968 and is employed by Gold Coast Construction Co.

After a wedding trip to Fort Lauderdale the couple is making their home at 838 N.E. 21st St. One of town guest present for the ceremony were: Mrs. Ruth Bozeman, grandmother of the bride, Baton Rouge, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Barney Bozeman, Jr., bride's aunt and uncle, Baton Rouge, La.; Mrs. Allen Kent, the bride's grandmother, Pompano Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Kent and family, Longwood; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Remondino, the groom's brother-in-law and sister, Ft. Lauderdale; Miss Becky Rhodes; and Mr. Dick Dieter, both of Lantana.

Bank of Belle Glade open house successful

BELLE GLADE—Over 400 people showed up Wednesday night for the Open House held in the newly-renovated Bank of Belle Glade.

The bank originally opened in 1969 and at present has over $20 million in assets. Visitors were treated to refreshments during the open house.

Work has been going on at the local institution since last year with architect Chester Cone supervising the renovation.

The result is over 6,000 more square feet of business area, improvements in the drive-in teller services, and many offices renovated. The grounds were newly landscaped.

On hand for the occasion were members of the board of directors officers and staff.

Bank president Wayne Mikell welcomed the guests and accepted an award from the Chamber of Commerce given to businesses who beautify or improve their structures.

Several months ago, the bank held another open house, this one in South Bay at their branch bank there.

MEMBERS OF THE BOARD of directors of the Bank of Belle Glade accepted a beautification award Wednesday from the Chamber of Commerce. Accepting the award were director Robert E. Matthews, Jr., S.M. McAllister, Chamber beautification committee president; director Billy Rogers; bank president Wayne Mikell; Chamber secretary Jewel Crane; and directors James Ball, Jr. and George Wedgworth. Not pictured is director George Royal, Jr.

ON HAND TO GREET the public Wednesday at the Bank of Belle Glade's open house were the bank's officers, including Harold Roland, first vice president; Lenwood Fuller, vice president and cashier; Dennis Milliron, assistant cashier and South Bay branch manager; Shirley Collins, assistant cashier; Bertha Agramonte, assistant cashier; and Wayne Mikell, president.

ICC tells industry to cut service

A recent ruling by the Interstate Commerce Commission telling the intercity bus industry that the frequency of bus schedules should be reduced would have an adverse affect on small towns, according to Charlene Plyer, local agent for Trailways, Inc.

"August 4, the ICC handed down a decision which said that bus companies should decrease the level of service through such actions such as less frequent scheduling and the offering of fewer amenities," Ms. Plyer said. "Just what amenities the Commission was referring to, I don't know. Perhaps the ICC would like for us to remove the restrooms and seats from our buses and haul people like cattle."

More serious than the question of "amenities," however, is the matter of reduced bus schedules, according to Ms. Plyer. "If we have to cut back on our schedules, those cut-backs would — by economic necessity — be made on less profitable routes. Generally the least profitable routes are those which serve towns like Clewiston."

Trailways currently has four buses per day arriving and departing from here, Ms. Plyer explained, with approximately 75 to 100 passengers being served each week.

YOU CAN RIPEN CANE FASTER BY APPLYING POLARIS® RIGHT NOW.

Poor natural ripening conditions are the biggest obstacles a grower faces at harvest time. High, constant temperatures, excess moisture, excess fertilizer intake — these and other conditions tend to sustain growth and delay ripening.

Polaris® plant growth regulator by Monsanto helps overcome these poor ripening conditions by artificially shifting the cane out of the growth phase and into a ripening phase. In this way, Polaris can "induce" the cane into ripening earlier than it would under these natural conditions.

Not only will Polaris enable a cane grower to better regulate harvests, but it will also help him realize more sucrose from his cane. Many growers are reporting sucrose improvements with Polaris ranging from 6% to 14% over untreated checks.

This season, let Polaris help you open your mill sooner and get more sucrose. See your agricultural chemical distributor, local county extension agent, or call N. F. Eason at (813) 481-1337 for more information about Polaris plant growth regulator by Monsanto.

Always read and carefully follow the label instructions for Polaris. Polaris® is a registered trademark of the Monsanto Company, St. Louis, Mo. ©Monsanto Company, 1977. PFI 8/77

Traffic Council to elect officers

BELLE GLADE—Glades residents and businesses who ever expect to ship or receive freight into or out of the area are being encouraged to attend an Oct. 9 meeting of the Lake Okechobee Traffic Council at 7:30 p.m. at the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative.

The Council expects to plan a strategy to decide which of two truck lines attempting to institute intra-Glades freight service the Council should endorse, or whether to endorse both.

An election of officers is also planned and Pat Drake of Clewiston, who has been president of the organization since its founding, said he is stepping down.

"The Oct. 9 meeting could very well be the most important meeting ever held for the Council," Drake said. "We have been striving for restoration of good intra freight service for the Lake Okechobee area for some time.

This is (the public's) opportunity to really do something about it."

Drake said the Oct. 9 meeting is aiming toward a hearing to be held by the Public Service Commission Oct. 16-17 in Miami on a proposal and request for a permanent intrastate freight authority for Crown Motor Lines.

The Council met Sept. 26 with the president and representatives of Crown in Clewiston and Drake said the consensus of the Council members was that:

- "We should support the carrier which gives the best service. However, it would be good to have two competitive intrastate carriers in our area.

- Members should maintain a close watch on Crown and Smalley's deliveries (Smalley Transportation Co. is the other company seeking a similar authority). Also, put some test shipments on each carrier.

• Maintain all records of freight shipments as only this proof of delivery will hold up at any hearing. Verbal information is not good enough. You must show proof of good or poor service."

Besides discussing the freight authorities during the Oct. 9 meeting, Drake said other important business will be the election of new officers.

He said that if anyone who has complained about poor public service and wants a voice in correcting the problems, this is their chance to join and participate with the council. He said the council is looking for new members.

Rains are lighter

BELLE GLADE—A less-than-half-the-average rainfall in the Glades in September almost managed to wipe out the total excess for the year's rain according to Dr. Robert Allen at the Agricultural Research and Education Center.

Dr. Allen reported the AREC's rain gauge measured a total of 4.12 inches of rain for last month, compared to 8.68 inches over the 53 year average. The 4.45 inch deficit lowered the 54-year average to 8.59 inches and dropped the excess for the year to 1.82 inches from the 5.88 inch excess as of last month.

There has been a total of 50.2 inches of rain for 1978 compared to the 54 year average of 48.63 inches of rain at this time.

Dr. Allen said the lower amount of rainfall for September was countered by a higher amount of radiation for the month.

Monthly

is scheduled

BELLE GLADE—The monthly meeting of the Citizens Planning Advisory Committee of the Community Development Department will be held at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 12 at the Lakeshore Civic Center.

The meeting is being held on this date because the regular meeting date, Oct. 6, is election day.

Johnny Rutledge, director of recreation for the city, will be present to discuss proposed programs for the new facilities at the Lakeshore Civic Center Park as well as the new Airport Park.

The public is invited to attend.

Hattie Fields will speak

BELLE GLADE — The October meeting of Community Service Council will be held in the conference room of the Agricultural Building, Glades Office Complex, State Rd. 15, 12:30 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 11.

Ms. Hattie Fields, Director of the Belle Glade-South Bay Target Area of Palm Beach County Community Action Council, will speak of the many varied services offered by the agency which is a division of the Human Resources Department of Palm Beach County.

Ms. Fields is a long-time resident of the Glades, and was recently featured in Guideposts with a story entitled "Nothing Can Stop a Woman with a Dream and a Prayer."

Citizens and agency workers are invited to participate in the monthly meeting, to be more knowledgeable as to "Where to Turn" for services. For further information, call 996-1850, Palm Beach County Social Services, the coordinating group.

US sugar winner of safety award

BELLE GLADE—U.S. Sugar Corp. of Clewiston won the annual sugarcane industry safety award for developing the lowest frequency/severity index during the 1977-78 harvest year last week at the 12th Annual Florida Sugar Cane Safety Conference held at the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida, Inc.

This was the sixth year USSC has won the award. It was presented by John Glenn, administrator for Industrial Safety, Division of Labor of the Florida Department of Commerce, to C.H. Sheppard.

Highlighting the conference was a poisonous reptiles presentation by Carlton O. Teate, executive director of Florida Wildlife Sanctuary.

"Each year," Teate said, "there is an increasing number of snakebites resulting from land clearing for agricultural purposes. Snakes are forced out of their natural habitat."

Teate presented a slide show on the type of poisonous and harmless snakes and insects, including a discussion on what to do if someone is snakebitten.

Nick Smith of U.S. Sugar Corporation spoke to the conferees on factory accident prevention and after a short break, Fred Scheible from Risk Management Services addressed the group on farm equipment accident prevention.

Chris Davison of Osceola Farms Co. put accident cost figures in terms of sugarcane profits and stressed the importance of protective equipment to reduce injuries in the cane field.

The conference was co-sponsored by the Florida Sugar Cane League and the Division of Labor. Tony Alvarez, assistant manager and personnel director of Gulf & Western Food Products welcomed the more than 125 industry safety personnel to the event.

USDA to move sugar says Senator Stone

WASHINGTON—At the urging of U.S. Sen. Richard Stone, the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture (USDA) announced that it will make storage space available for the Glades' 1978 sugar crop, which is harvested in November.

Because of the glut of sugar on the market this year, the 1977 crop is still sitting in private warehouses that will be needed to store the 1978 crop in just a few weeks. About 380,000 tons of the sugar now taking up warehouse space has been purchased by the federal Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) under its loan program.

The CCC has announced that it will pay the cost of transporting the sugar to alternate storage sites about 60 to 90 days before the loans mature. This means that Florida producers can begin moving out last year's sugar as early as the first week in October, with the CCC picking up the tab of loading, rail transport, and unloading several months ahead of schedule.

If the producers decide to sell their sugar instead of forfeiting it to the CCC, they will have to repay USDA for transportation costs. Florida producers are expected to turn over about 250,000 tons of sugar to the CCC when the loans mature.

"USDA has acted in the nick of time to avert a problem that could have seriously threatened Florida's sugar industry," said Sen. Stone. "I am encouraged that the CCC will help Florida producers transfer their sugar in just a few weeks."

Stone has been working with

USDA for several months to find a solution to the storage problem and also introduced legislation earlier this summer to the same effect.

In separate action, the Treasury Department has been directed by the International Trade Commission (ITC) to continue its investigation into whether European countries are flooding the US market with sugar illegally, thus depressing prices artificially for domestic growers.

On Sept. 8, Sen. Stone testified in Washington before the ITC in support of strong federal agency action to stop European countries from dumping excess sugar in the US. "Dumping," which is illegal under US trade law, means selling a commodity below the cost of production for a temporary period, in order to drive competitors out of the market. This summer, European sugar was selling at Europe at 18 cents a pound and in the US at 17 cents a pound.

Florida sugar cane producers had filed a petition with the ITC, claiming that dumping by West Germany, France and Belgium was driving them out of the market. "We expect normal levels of lawfully imported sugar to come here and compete with US sugar," Stone testified. However, he said, the ITC and the Treasury should take action "to stop illegal sugar imports from further damaging our balance of payments and an important agricultural industry."

US 27 construction to start

SOUTH BAY—Rubin Construction Co. of West Palm Beach was the apparent low bidder for a half million dollar construction job which entails grading and resurfacing 6.7 miles of US27 south of here.

The job, for which Rubin bid $515,189, will begin just north of the intersection of SR 827 at Oklawaha and work south. Besides resurfacing the pavement, the job will involve the installation of reflective pavement markers and guardrail work.

South Bay commission gets look at land plan

SOUTH BAY — City Commissioners had their first look at, and chance to revise, a projected land use plan the public should have its first look at in about four weeks.

Dr. Richard Ormon of Barker, Osha and Anderson, the engineering firm which drew up the plan in cooperation with the City Planning and Zoning Board, presented the plan to the commissioners, explaining the changes made.

Some of the changes involved a proposed change in the use of most of the land in the city now zoned for agriculture, a deepening of the commercial property on the eastern edge of US 27 running north and addition to the plan of that part of Section II not now included in the city.

Ormon said the reasoning behind the increased depth of the commercial property to 400 feet, which would give a full acre of land to any piece of land with 400 feet frontage on US 27, would be to encourage use of the property for more than "in and out" businesses.

"This would allow the owners to build small shopping centers," Ormon told the commissioners. One of the more prominent features of the plan was the idea to use the berms on both sides of the North New River Canal as a "kind of strip lineal park" to be used to plant trees, fish and picnic. The "park" stretches the entire length of the canal through the city limits and also goes around the perimeter of the city's sewer treatment plant.

The commissioners suggested a few changes to the plan, including less multiple family residential north of the center of town on SR 80.

Ormon stressed the fact the commissioners shouldn't confuse the projected land use plan, which is required by law, with the city's zoning map. He said the zoning map, which should be based on the land use plan, has the force of law while the land use plan doesn't.

He said he will now incorporate the commissioners' changes into the plan and take it back to the Planning and Zoning Board. There will be three public hearings, one before the Planning and Zoning Board and two more before the City Commission.

Ormon said copies of the map will be available in the City Clerk's office when the city advertises the hearings and copies will also be posted in store fronts in the city to help notify the public.

School lunch week proclaimed by mayor

National School Lunch Week's (NSLW) theme, "Eat to Learn.... Learn to Eat," will again be presented across the nation October 8-14.

This theme, part of the five-year theme developed last year, was designed to focus attention on the importance and increase the awareness of the benefits of good nutrition to students; parents and the general public. Emphasis this school year is on eating right and physical well-being.

Locally, Mayor Duncan Padgett has proclaimed Oct. 8-14 Pahokee School Lunch Week.

Again promoting this year's NSLW are characters from the cartoon strip "Wee Fats" by Morris Turner. Wellington and Dix are featured on this year's poster advocating the idea that if one eats right, one should be "Feel'n' Good, Feel'n' Groovy." Turner's cartoon characters offer a fun way to celebrate NSLW and at the same time stress the significance of teaching children to eat the right foods so that they will feel right, play hard, and work well.

A proper diet is one of the few proven influences that improve a child's school performance. Most everyone will agree that a well nourished student performs better than a poorly nourished one. The importance of nutrition education in this country is underscored by the fact that six of the 10 leading causes of death are related to poor nutritional habits. American School Food Service Association (ASFS) believes that changing the dietary habits of school children is the place to begin. NSLW is just one way of establishing the necessity of good nutritional habits if children are to grow up healthy and strong.

Highlighting NSLW is Universal Menu Day, October 11. Over 26.5 million children, participating in the national school lunch program, will enjoy a meal featuring Oven Fried Chicken, Mashed Potatoes and Country Gravy, Carrots and Celery, Sticks, Orange, Wedges, Angel Biscuit and Honey Butter, Raisin Oatmeal Cookie, and Milk. This meal is a typical Type A lunch and includes items from the four basic food groups - meat or meat alternate, fruit and/or vegetable, bread or bread alternate, and milk. Type A lunches provide one-third of the recommended daily allowances for children.

First implemented in 1946, the National School Lunch Program is administered by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA). About 91,000 schools - 95 percent of all schools in the nation - participate in the program. USDA and USFSA work cooperatively each year in promoting good nutrition, good health, and the school lunch program. NSLW is one of their major yearly projects and has been since 1962 when the late President John F. Kennedy proclaimed the first National School Lunch Week.

According to Mary Sullivan, cafeteria manager for the Pahokee and Canal Point schools, parents are invited to eat with their children during NSLW.

GCI Jaycees donate to groups

BELLE GLADE—The Glades Correctional Institution Jaycees chapter made donations last week to three charities, according to President Abe Oliva.

Heading the list of the donations was a $100 gift to the Wee Care Child Development Center and another of like size to the Florida Sheriff's Association Rodeoever Boys Ranch. The Jaycees also donated $25 to the Glades Central High School Athletic Association.

Charities Chairman Charles Bridges announced the chapter is also donating its labor to build a ramp for the handicapped at the Belle Glade National Guard Armory.

Corps

to check with FHSAA Executive Director Floyd Lay in Gainesville.

Assistant Principal Norman Shearin and Athletic Director Graham Froot went to Gainesville last Thursday and met with Lay to make their presentation but Lay said a final decision would have to be made by the FHSAA Executive Committee, which didn't meet until Monday.

Rowe's father flew back to Belle Glade from Germany over the weekend and went to the hearing with his son, his mother and Dr. Grear.

Dr. Grear said earlier this week she had been informed during the hearing there were three possible options open to the FHSAA: declare Rowe ineligible for the entire year, in which case the first two games would be forfeited and Rowe would be out for the remainder of the year, declare him a hardship case for the remainder of the year in which case he would be eligible to play but the two games would be forfeited or the third possibility of finding him eligible to play the entire year.

In the final option, Glades Central would have won the district championship, ensuring a spot in the state playoff berths at the end of the season.

As it now stands, Cardinal Newman will probably have to defeat Atlantic to give the Raiders a chance in the playoffs and even then, it wouldn't be definite.

Dr. Grear said the rule being invoked by the FHSAA is one requiring a competitor to have resided with the same parent or guardian for a calendar year before being eligible to compete.

There has been no question about Rowe's residency because he was born in Belle Glade and his parents have maintained Belle Glade as a legal residence throughout the time his father has been in the Army.

"I think it would be a shame," Dr. Grear said earlier this week, "if they don't allow him to play for the remainder of the year. The rules are supposed to be for the benefit of the kids and that wouldn't be in his best interests."

Dr. Grear was in a conference all Wednesday morning with Rowe's father on the matter. There was some indication the father would take the matter to court with the aid of Army attorneys but that wasn't definite as of noon Wednesday.

Dr. Grear said Wednesday afternoon Rowe would be allowed to play the rest of the year. She was waiting for official notification from Lay and said that was all she knew. A story in Wednesday's Fort Lauderdale Sun-Sentinel said the two games were forfeited.

Sugar cane smut report released

A preliminary report issued this week on the susceptibility of different varieties of sugar cane to sugar cane smut indicated that at least three varieties are extremely susceptible to the disease first discovered in Florida earlier this year.

The report was jointly issued by G. Kidder, assistant professor and extension sugarcane specialist at the Agricultural Research and Education Center and Drs. J.L. Dean and J.D. Miller of the U.S.

Department of Agriculture Sugarcane Field Station in Canal Point.

"In this report," Dr. Kidder said, "it is assumed that all varieties are susceptible in some degree to smut. Some are known to be highly susceptible and shouldn't be planted; some will be so lightly susceptible that the effect of the disease in a commercial planting will be insignificant; and the others will be affected in varying degrees between the two extremes."

Kidder recommended that varieties CI 49-200, CI 54-336 and CI 54-405 not be planted since heavy infestations of smut have been found in commercial fields of these varieties.

Also recommended Were:

- Careful consideration of other varietal characteristics be given before planting varieties on which some smut has been found in commercial fields in Florida.
- Seedcane not be cut from fields known to have smut.
- Continue reporting all finds of smut to Dr. J.R. Orsaino, director of agricultural research for the Florida Sugar Cane League.

Kidder stressed that the report is preliminary and only contains the limited information gleaned thus far.

10; the second at 10 a.m., Oct. 12, in the Stuart City Commission Chambers at 121 S. Flager Ave. and the third at 2 p.m., Oct. 19, in the WMD auditorium at 3301 Gun Club Road in West Palm Beach.

Unlike the majority of individual users currently using less than 100,000 gallons a day, "a small percentage of users" in Stuart and Sanibel can expect to have increased costs due to the permitting action.

Under the general permitting system, which includes Glades water users, a simple notice of intent to use water would be required to be filed by the user. This would not involve any engineering knowledge but would be a minimum informational document to establish the individual as a legal user of water, Maloy said.

He went on to say that current water users who qualify for the general permit would be grandfathered in as of the effective date of the rules, "with no obligation to file the notice, while those existing water users in Stuart and Sanibel who don't qualify for a general permit would have two years from the date of implementation of the rules to file a permit application."

more than navigable waterways.

The final court decision was made in March of 1975 when the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and other environmentally oriented groups filed suit against the Corps to require it to consider more than navigable waterways in making its decision.

The U.S. District Court in Washington D.C. ruled at that time the Corps' responsibility should be right be extended to wetlands and the Corps began phasing itself into the new jurisdiction.

"Now all the wetlands in Florida, in essence, are in our jurisdiction," he said. We really got into the area south of Lake Okechobee in July of last year.

Adams said the Corps is still asking for input into the proposed general permitting procedure and anyone who wishes to comment has until Oct. 16 to make their opinions known.

He said correspondence should be directed to him in care of Regulatory Branch, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, P.O. Box 4970, Jacksonville, FL 32201. Adams said reference should be made to SAJ-30.

BEAUTIFICATION COMMITTEE officers presented outgoing chairman Robert Allen a certificate Wednesday morning in appreciation for his two year chairmanship of the committee. New officers elected during the Wednesday meeting were Chairman S.M. McAllister, First Vice President W.C. Taylor, Treasurer Gladys Ganzey and Secretary Jewel Crane presented the certificate. Second Vice President Jack Schaefer wasn't present for the meeting. The committee is naming Nov. 13-20 as the annual cleanup week and a slogan contest will be held from Monday, Oct. 9 - Oct. 20, with entries to be made at the Chamber of Commerce Building.

Congress considers sugar bill

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A bill sponsored by Senator Frank Church of Idaho is being considered by the U.S. Congress that, if passed, would set a market price of 17 cents per pound for imported sugar.

The Senate is expected to act upon this bill sometime this week.

The bill would also tie-in an escalator tuned to inflation and would be maintained by import fees and quotas on cheaper imported sugar.

The world price of sugar at the present time stands at eight cents per pound. The United States' price of domestic sugar is just over 13 cents per pound.

President Jimmy Carter has said he will not sign a bill with such a high sugar price or an escalator, claiming this would cost consumers

$3.5 billion more than an administration backed bill during the next five years.

Ex-Raiders spark McPherson win

MCPHERSON, KAN. — Former Glades Central High School quarterback Johnny Rutledge, following the blocking of former Glades Central guard Lester Finney, rushed for 51 yards while sparking a McPherson College win over Sterling College, last year's champion of the Kansas Collegiate Conference.

The game, played Sept. 16, at Sterling, Kan., may have been a turnaround since the McPherson Bulldogs failed to win a single game last year.

the 27-20 win.

"I thought Johnny was a very dominant figure in the game," head coach Johnny Gregg said of the sophomore from Belle Glade. "He may have made the difference. His options were on target and his faking was excellent. And he showed a lot of leadership."

Besides the scoring pass, Rutledge made another six points, the first touchdown of the game, when he ran a two-yard bootleg play.

Another Glades Central product, Lester Finney, is holding down the same position at offensive guard as he held for two years with the Raiders.

Rutledge led the Bulldog ground attack as well as connecting on three of six passes, including one touchdown play, for 42 yards, in

Growers see larger harvest

CLEWISTON — An increase of almost 50,000 tons is being forecast by the Florida Sugar Cane League for the 1978-79 sugar harvest according to League Vice President and General Manager Dalton Yancy.

Yancy said the League is projecting a harvest of 9.7 million tons of cane expected to yield 940,000 tons of raw sugar. Last year, the harvest from the same 300,000 acres of cane produced 894,000 tons of raw sugar.

The projected increase is due to increased plantings which were made in order to compensate for two years of successive freezes. The harvest season is expected to begin in early November.

Spanish Sunday School will begin

The Church of God of Prophecy, located at 2500 E. Main St., is now conducting a Spanish speaking Sunday school class.

The class begins at 10 a.m. on Sunday morning and is being taught by brother and sister Frank Guajardo.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend Sunday School and morning and evening worship services.

around, however, and pounce on the fumbled ball before any of the Gardens players managed to lay a hand on it and the Raiders went on to win the affray, 26-6. Lockett said standouts in the contest were, besides McCoy, Jessie Hester, Leonard Camel and Michael Stinson.

Glades Central wins its district...maybe

BELLE GLADE - The Glades Central Raiders fought the absence of their star running back, penalties which continually erased advantages, a hard rain and a tough Cardinal Newman defense to win the District 14 AAA championship Friday night...maybe.

Defensive tackle Wilford Morgan was there when it counted on both offense and defense, leading the Raider headhunters with 11 tackles and two assists and scoring nine points in the 11-3 win over the Crusaders.

The win points the way for an undefeated Glades Central team toward a home field meeting with expansion team Fort Pierce Westwood Friday night. It wasn't enough, however, to get the Raiders ranked in statewide polls and as of Tuesday the district championship was still in doubt.

There doubt was expected to be resolved later Tuesday or possibly Wednesday when Florida High School Activities Association (FHSAA) Executive Director Floyd Lay was to pass on the decision of the FHSAA executive board on whether Johnny Rowe is eligible to play and whether the Raiders would have to forfeit their first two games.

Rowe has been the center of a controversy for the past week, after being named in the Palm Beach Post's player of the week in a story telling how his father, who is stationed in the Army in Germany, brought him home during the summer to live with his grandmother.

When the question arose about whether Rowe would be eligible to play, Glades Central Principal Effie C. Greer contacted Lay to ask for a ruling and Lay said the executive board would have to rule on the matter.

Rowe was watching from the sidelines Friday night as Newman got on the scoreboard first in the first quarter with a field goal by Crusader Ed Jarmakowick.

The Raiders trailed, 3-0 for the rest of the first half and it wasn't until early in the third quarter, when the Crusaders were in a fourth and 17 situation during the first series of downs in the second half.

In a punt situation, the Newman center kicked the ball over the punter's head and out of the end zone, giving the Raiders two points.

Those were the only two points scored in the third quarter and Glades Central still trailed until Wilford Morgan kicked a 30-yard field goal with 10:07 left in the final period.

Morgan scored again when, in another field goal attempt from 30 yards out, there was another bad snap from center and Morgan picked it up and raced down the right sideline into the end zone for a touchdown.

The PAT failed and the Raiders took an 11-13 lead with 4:30 left in the game, leaving it to the defense to hold the Crusaders after Cardinal Newman took the ball to the Raider four yard line before it went over on downs with less than two minutes to play.

Quarterback Terry Hammond keyed the Raider offense with three carries for 30 yards and completing six of 14 passes for 119 yards.

Archib Godfrey carried the ball 15 times for 86 yards and Carl Harper made six carries for 25 yards as well as catching one pass on two attempts for three yards.

Greg Bain caught three passes of eight attempts for 86 yards in the air. Jeff Henderson caught two more for 46 yards and Johnny Dixon caught one pass for 25 yards.

Besides Morgan, the Raider defense was led by Chris Ellick, with ten tackles and two assists, Leon Satler with seven tackles and an assist and Willie Gibson with six and one.

The Raiders rushed a total of 166 yards and passed for 119 more while the Crusaders rushed for 55 yards on the ground and made another 63 in the air. Each team made a total of eight first downs. The Crusaders lost one fumble. The Raiders were penalized a total of 115 yards or 30 yards in penalties for the Crusaders.

Pahokee Blue Devils blitz Bishop Verot 46-0

PAHOKEE-A weak Bishop Verot offense and strong offensive efforts on the part of Pahokee resulted in a lopsided 46-0 victory for the Blue Devils.

Blue Devil coach Antoine Russell said his team played a strong game - one in which many inexperienced players got a chance at action on the field.

"We had our first complete team out (of the game) by the end of the first half," he said, explaining that he took out his first string defense as early as the end of the first quarter.

"Bishop Verot had problems. (The team's coaches) left key people off their front line," Russell noted.

Pahokee took control of the ball early in the game. On the second play of the game Sam Pompy took a handoff and ran 43 yards for a touchdown.

Bishop Verot followed the Blue Devils touchdown with a stall that, for a while, looked as if it would produce a score. But the Vikings turned the ball over on a fourth down.

Pahokee capitalized on its next possession, and after a couple of handoffs, ran the ball 52 yards for its second touchdown early in the second quarter.

After that it was all down hill for the Blue Devils. Stafford Everett scored on a 63 yard pass from quarterback Ronald Osborne. Leonard Jones picked up a TD on a 64 yard bomb. Everett ran another

TD on a 43-yard pass from Boris Banks.

Other scores were made by Samuel Owens, who picked up two touchdowns and led the team in rushing with 125 yards; Jones, who returned a punt for a 72 yard touchdown, and Joe Miller, who made one other touchdown.

Defensively, Frank Walker led the pack with eight tackles, five of them unassisted.

"It was a well played game and I feel good about the victory,"

Russell said.

This week the Blue Devils face the team from North Shore High School in West Palm Beach.

"North Shore is big and strong with a 2-2 record," Russell said, noting that the team will be difficult to beat, particularly with its "home field" advantage.

"Their passing attack is strong, and there's nothing easy about them," he added.

"But we will be ready for them."

Sports

Free lessons offered

BELLE GLADE - The Belle Glade Recreation Department's Fall Tennis Program will begin Oct. 17. Tuesday lessons will be held at Lyons Park and Wednesday lessons at Lake Shore Park.

All classes begin at 6 p.m. The first six weeks of classes will be for beginners only. Beginners are those who have never been instructed on the basics of tennis. The participants of this class will learn the very basic fundamentals: grip, toss of ball, forehand, backhand, and scoring.

Instruction and tennis balls will be provided at no cost. Participants must provide their own tennis rackets and wear soft soled shoes.

Registration forms for this class are available at the Recreation office in the City Hall. For more information call 996-0100 ext. 244.
